

COVENANT OF HEALTHY RELATIONS

We are an inclusive community that actively puts our values into action through acceptance and tolerance. We challenge injustice and seek to empower those who strive for freedom and dignity, through acts of compassion, generosity and advocacy. Our gift to the world is our belief in the right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregation and society at large.

BUF PARTNERSHIPS AND OUTREACH MINISTRIES

COMMUNITY TO COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIP TEAM

In May 2012, the BUF Congregation voted in favor of establishing a formal partnership with Community to Community Development (C2C), a local organization that works in the areas of food sovereignty (which covers fair trade, healthy and sustainable farming, farmworker rights, healthy cooking and nutrition education), immigration reform, civic education, leadership development--particularly with youth, women's rights, eliminating racism and racial profiling, prison divestment and other social change movements. Much of their work is inspired by the teachings of Cesar Chavez. The partnership is supported by a special partnership team established at BUF to ensure that we reach the goals set forth in the partnership resolution. Contact, Deb Cruz, dwcruz@comcast.net.

HUMANITAS MINISTRY

Humanitas is an interfaith outreach program which supports and offers limited financial assistance to people in need. BUF's ministry team works closely with the local church groups who offer similar programs. People in the community can receive assistance with one or more of five local programs, often working in coordination to meet a larger need than one program would be able to meet on its own.

Humanitas services will be available to the community every Wednesday morning beginning at 9:30. Intake begins at 10:00. There will be volunteers available to meet with people in the community seeking assistance. Decisions are made by consensus of the volunteers and funds are never dispersed in cash. Records of all interviews will be maintained by the team. If you would like to get involved in this compassionate new program please contact Barbara Gobus, bgdiadem@gmail.com.
